And all of these documents should be easily available to the people who need them, in the format they prefer. Oracle Legal Whitehill Enterprise is designed to help meet all these challenges.*

Professional Documents, Quickly Delivered

Created specifically for legal and professional services firms, Oracle Legal Whitehill Enterprise is a proven, server-based solution that automates the creation and distribution of critical documents. It transforms data from back-office systems (such as time and billing software) into professional-looking invoices, reports and other documents.

Through a user-friendly design interface, business users can quickly create customized templates for personalized, professional-looking documents. Oracle Legal Whitehill Enterprise supports rules-based logic, giving you limitless design and delivery possibilities from a single "smart" template.

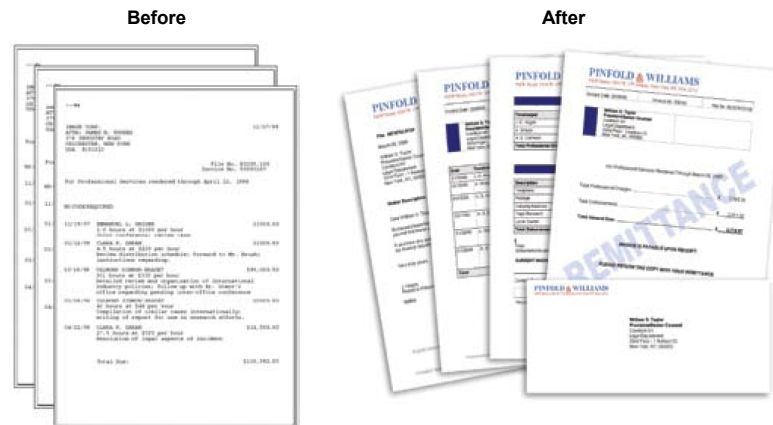

Once you have created the templates, Oracle Legal Whitehill Enterprise extracts the source data from a wide variety of systems and formats it according to the template rules. The finished documents can be distributed via any number of channels (print, Web, or e-mail) or archived in the firm's document management system.
