INTRODUCTION

Mass production technologies spawned modern consumerism. While most agree this was a good thing, profoundly changing the human experience – it also presented inherent tradeoffs, namely less individualism and personalization in our products and transactions.

The digital age is turning convention, once again, on its head – as we increasingly expect, and even demand, to have it our way – whether transacting, communicating, working, or simply enjoying leisure time. Welcome to Era I – the Age of the Individual. Millennials and Generation Z behind them lead the way, but the impact of Era I extends well beyond these two demographic juggernauts.

What does this mean for enterprises? Organizations must be ready and able to turn on a dime and deliver content, experiences, services, and technology to individuals however and wherever they desire. But how are they doing?

Oracle’s “The Era I Enterprise: Ready for Anything” report surveyed 300 North American C-level executives to understand the emergence of Era I and, importantly, how prepared organizations are to manage this shift.
METHODOLOGY

Oracle conducted telephone and online interviews with 300 North American C-level industry executives in January and February of 2016 that surveyed the following industries:

KEY TAKE-AWAYS

The Era I Challenge:

• 84% say their organization has experienced a trend toward customers wanting a more individualized experience and 70% have experienced this trend from employees
• Nearly two-thirds of managers say the shift is a growing challenge in their ability to compete effectively

Most Organizations are Unprepared:

• Today fewer than one in five C-level executives give their organization an “A” in its ability to offer highly individualized customer or employee experiences
• Their biggest weaknesses are their abilities to: Turn on a dime in response to change or opportunity, offer highly individualized products/services, and respond effectively to changing market conditions

Individualization and Agility are Key to Revenue Growth:

• Organizations estimate that if they were able to successfully offer customers and employees a highly individualized experience, they would earn an additional 18% in annual revenue. For a $1 Billion company, that’s $180 Million a year
• To get there, organizations say business intelligence tools, customer experience solutions, and other industry-specific applications will play a vital role
• Additionally, 81% believe there is an important link between cloud-based IT solutions and their organization’s ability to deliver individualized employee and customer experiences
The Era I Challenge

Nearly all organizations are experiencing a market shift toward greater individualization and the majority say it’s impacting their ability to compete.

84% say their organization has experienced a trend toward customers wanting a more individualized experience* and 70% have experienced this trend from employees.

Nearly two-thirds of managers say the shift is a growing challenge in their ability to compete effectively.

100% of communications and hospitality executives have noticed this trend with customers; utility executives are the most likely to say it’s impacting their ability to compete.

*In terms of products, services, content, and how they are purchased/obtained, delivered, or consumed

Take Away: Ready or Not, Era I is Here
93% of organizations believe they are leaving money on the table by not successfully offering customers and employees a highly individualized experience.

How Much?

Managers estimate that if their organization were able to successfully offer customers and employees a highly individualized experience in terms of content, products, and services, they would earn an additional 18% in annual revenue.

For a $1 Billion company, that’s $180 Million a year.

Take Away: Millions to Gain
PRIORITIZING THE INDIVIDUAL

Two out of three organizations are focused on improving their ability to offer a more individualized experience.

Where does the ability to offer a more highly individualized experience (such as tailored products, content, and/or services) to customers and employees rank in terms of your organization’s current priorities?

- 66% of organizations prioritize individualization as one of their top three priorities.
- 27% consider it a top priority, but not among their top three.
- 6% do not consider it a top priority but see it on their radar.
- 1% do not consider it a top priority nor see it on their radar.
- 1% are unsure.

Communications and education/research organizations are most likely to say individualization is their top priority.

Take Away: Individualization is Top of Mind
Today, however, fewer than one in five C-level executives give their organization an “A” in its ability to offer highly individualized customer or employee experiences.

While organizations understand that providing individualized experiences is critical for their future success, very few have made the transformation.

The Customer Gap

82% believe the ability to offer a more individualized experience is critical to staying relevant in today’s marketplace.

But just 21% are very well prepared* to deliver individualized customer experiences across content, products, experiences, services, and technology today.

The Employee Gap

80% believe offering a highly individualized experience is key to recruit and retain the best and brightest employees.

But just 22% are very well prepared* to deliver individualized employee experiences across content, products, experiences, services, and technology today.

*Rated themselves an 8-10 on a scale of 1-10, where 1 was not at all prepared and 10 was completely prepared.

Take Away: Time to Close the Gap
LESSONS FROM ERA I LEADERS

Organizations that have increased their revenue by more than 10% in the last year are significantly ahead of the curve when it comes to offering individualized experiences.

IMPROVING THE EMPLOYEE EXPERIENCE

More than two out of three organizations are failing to offer self-service options to employees

Which of the following is your organization not currently offering to meet the changing, more individualized needs of employees?*

- Self-service options from the device of choice: 69%
- Data analytics to help employees gain insight and drive innovation: 67%
- Advanced collaboration tools: 63%
- Industry-specific applications that enable employees to thrive: 57%

*Respondents asked to select all that apply

Healthcare organizations are most likely to offer self-service options and industry-specific apps; the public sector leads in flexible work environments

Large organizations (10,000+ employees) are least likely to offer employees industry-specific apps

LEGACY SYSTEMS HOLD ORGANIZATIONS BACK

While organizations say cloud is vital to Era I success, many are stuck with legacy systems.

81% of managers believe there is an important link between cloud-based IT solutions and their organization’s ability to deliver the flexibility and agility needed to deliver more individualized employee and customer experiences.

Today, only 28% of mission and business-critical applications are in the cloud.

Additionally, 57% believe outdated technology systems are holding them back from delivering greater individualization.

Take away: Capitalize on Cloud.

What do you believe will be the single greatest enabler of your organization’s ability to individualize the customer and employee experience in the next five years?

“Developing business intelligence analytics to better analyze customer data and anticipate their needs.”

“Implementing IT systems that collect and analyze client demographic data to assist in identifying client needs and then creating service delivery systems to meet those needs.”

“The ability to make the consumer feel that the content that is being delivered is speaking directly to them, as opposed to a message that they feel is being delivered to the masses.”

“Moving off of legacy systems to more web-based applications and services that can be easily updated and managed.”

Take Away: Modernize Tech and Mindsets
OUR TAKE

- The Age of the Individual is Here: Customer and employee expectations have never been higher. Organizations must accelerate their strategic planning and get on board. The time is now.

- Give People What They Want: Despite knowing and understanding the benefits of providing highly individualized customer and employee experiences, most organizations still have not made transforming a top priority. To stay competitive and remain relevant, empower your customers and your organization with the content, experiences, services, and technology that they want...when they want it. Or risk losing them.

- Prioritize Agility and Flexibility: Don’t wait. From business intelligence capabilities to customer experience solutions to industry-specific applications, organizations need to make IT investments to ensure they are agile and flexible enough to meet Era I needs. There’s a lot on the line—managers estimate they can earn an additional $180 Million annually* by offering highly individualized experiences.

- Consider the Cloud: Simplify IT and drive innovation—the true business value of moving to the cloud. Become a cloud leader, and gain the scalability needed to turn on a dime to meet the ever-evolving needs of your customers and employees.
