provides powerful limit controls, embedded policies, and native security that address these significant corporate governance concerns. Oracle Treasury monitors your limits in real-time and automatically alerts you and your management to any exceptions.

Oracle Treasury secures your treasury operations and enforces segregation of duties by providing common business roles or responsibilities. In addition to the extensive security features in Oracle E-Business Suite, you can also control specific deal input and settlement validation authority. Your centralized treasury team can operate on behalf of multiple companies in regional or worldwide shared service centers. Oracle Treasury also supports auditing a wide selection of business events to allow you to track any changes made to financial instruments in the system.

Reduce External Funds Requirements

Oracle Treasury's in-house banking features enable the treasury department to act as a bank to subsidiaries. These capabilities allow you to collaborate with your subsidiaries regionally or worldwide to consolidate and manage cash on their behalf. Your subsidiaries can borrow or invest money with the in-house bank at interest rates that reflect the fair cost of funding. For each subsidiary and currency, Oracle Treasury automatically maintains a running balance, calculates accrued interest, settles or compounds interest at any time, and generates related reporting and accounting entries for all this activity.

Oracle E-Business Suite - The Complete Solution
