Oracle Consulting is the only global organisation focused exclusively on Oracle Applications and Technology. With unparalleled knowledge and experience of Oracle solutions – we deliver on Oracle’s commitment.

Before commencing an implementation project, it is important for customers to have a strategy and implementation roadmap in place that provides short term results, while still contributing to their long term vision. Oracle Consulting offers a specialised strategy and roadmap service to engage and assist our customers’ efforts with properly planning their implementation of Oracle’s Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) Applications across their enterprise(s).

About Oracle’s ERP Application Architecture Roadmap service
Oracle’s ERP Application Architecture Roadmap service helps our customers build an optimised, cost effective Applications Architecture and Implementation Roadmap aligned to standard Oracle ERP Applications capabilities and industry best practices. It guides customers’ through the necessary steps to begin realising the benefits of their Oracle ERP Applications. Through analysing corporate objectives in relation to business requirements, encouraging reuse of standard product functionality, and optimising a phased implementation strategy that focuses on quick wins, this offering efficiently and accurately prioritises business objectives, and creates an implementation strategy that facilitates a successful project implementation.

The Oracle ERP Application Architecture Roadmap Service provides customers with the following:

- Comprehensive business process driven assessment of customers’ business priorities.
- Architecture to enable their business vision.
- Roadmap for implementation.

Scope of the Offering
The Oracle ERP Application Architecture Roadmap Service is applicable to a wide range of customers and industries with distinct needs. The scope and approach are agreed in advance, and can be tailored to the customer’s environment and requirements.

Using Oracle’s Enterprise Architecture Framework, a component of Oracle Unified Method (OUM) –Oracle’s standards-based methodology that provides a rapid, adaptive and business-focused implementation approach, Oracle Enterprise Architects bring their practical real-world experience gained through working with customers.

We work with our customers as part of a focused 2-4 week Oracle Consulting service using standard prioritisation techniques, with a specific agreed output. The scope and approach is agreed in advance, and can be tailored to the customer’s environment and requirements. This engagement is estimated for approximately 2 Architects (depending on the documentation available and the complexity of your environment).

What we will produce

Working closely with the customer’s Architecture team, we will:

• Review the customer’s existing key Business Objectives and Business Initiatives to produce a MoSCoW Improvement List.

• Develop a high level Target Application Architecture tailored to the customer’s industry sector and aligned to the customer’s key business initiatives.

• Develop the ERP Application Implementation Roadmap, which details all of the programs and projects that should be performed within a given timeframe.

In situations where some risks are not well understood, further discovery work may be recommended in the findings to better understand the required levels of effort.
