Oracle has undertaken actions and is committed to maintaining and improving its systems and processes, to eradicate human trafficking and slavery in its direct hardware supply chain. Oracle requires its direct hardware supply chain suppliers to observe all applicable laws and conduct business in an ethical and responsible manner. Oracle has adopted the Responsible Business Alliance (RBA) Code of Conduct (formerly the Electronic Industry Citizenship Coalition Code of Conduct), which prohibits the use of forced, bonded, indentured or involuntary prison labor.

Oracle continues to verify, evaluate, promote awareness about, and address risks associated with forced labor and human trafficking in its direct hardware supply chain. Examples of actions undertaken include the following:

Evaluating and addressing supply chain risks

Oracle has incorporated by reference the RBA Code of Conduct into its standard direct hardware supply chain supplier agreements. Oracle also participates in industry efforts to increase awareness of human trafficking and to implement RBA programs, including the Responsible Labor Initiative (RLI).

Auditing suppliers

Oracle audits its direct hardware supply chain suppliers based on the RBA Code of Conduct and also reviews the audit results for these suppliers.

Supplier certification

Oracle ensures that direct hardware supply chain suppliers certify to the best of their knowledge that the materials they incorporate into products were generated in compliance with applicable anti-slavery and human trafficking laws.

Accountability standards

Oracle upholds accountability standards and procedures for employees and direct hardware supply chain suppliers who fail to meet Oracle's business conduct requirements.

Training

Oracle provides training on human trafficking and slavery issues to employees that directly manage the direct hardware supply chain.

Investigations and audits

Oracle will perform investigations and audits to verify that business is being conducted in compliance with this Policy. All Oracle employees and third parties through whom Oracle conducts business are required to fully and promptly cooperate with Oracle's internal and external auditors and investigators, and must respond fully and truthfully to their questions, requests for information, and documents. Any failure by an employee to completely cooperate, or any action to hinder an investigation or audit, including for example, hiding or destroying any information or documentation, providing false answers or false information, or deleting email or other documents, may be grounds for disciplinary action, up to and including termination, subject to applicable law.

Policy compliance

Report any conduct that you believe to be a violation of this Policy, either directly to a member of the Compliance and Ethics Organization, to the Oracle Legal Department, to the Global Chief Compliance and Ethics Officer, or to Oracle's Executive Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary. Employees who fail to report actual or suspected misconduct may be deemed in violation of this Policy as permitted by applicable law.

Oracle will not tolerate retaliation against an employee for reporting a concern in good faith or for cooperating with a compliance investigation, even when no evidence is found to substantiate the report.

Any violation of this Policy may be grounds for disciplinary action, up to and including termination, subject to applicable law. Violation of applicable laws may also result in criminal prosecution of responsible individuals.
