5 key factors to consider when evaluating payment technology solutions

For more than 20 years, Oracle Textura has helped contractors improve their finance workflow—and their bottom line. Textura increases visibility into supply chain payments, preventing project disruptions and driving efficiencies in the invoice, lien waiver, and payment processes.

Choose proven performance or gamble?

Textura is a trusted payment management solution used by top construction companies. With more than 20 years of experience and $1.2 trillion in payments, it offers reliability and low risk. It’s a better choice than newer, untested technology.

Pay as you go or up-front cost?

Textura's pay-per-use model offers flexibility and predictability. You pay only when adding a project, tying costs directly to it. This approach, unlike up-front, volume-based charges, makes Textura cost effective, allowing users to pay for what they use.

Who truly safeguards your payment transactions?

Operating on secure Oracle infrastructure, Textura's security features protect financial data. It meets enterprise standards and facilitates direct transfers without holding funds. With over 10 million secure ACH transactions, it's a trusted payment solution.

Flexibility and interoperability—or forever locked in?

The industry standard in construction payment management, Textura offers specialized tools with enhanced capabilities. It extends the value of your ERP and works in concert with your project management solution, providing flexibility and proven performance.

Will your payment system support your growth—or limit It?

Processing $20 billion in subcontractor payments each month and continuing to grow, Textura is trusted by construction professionals and capable of managing payment needs for any size organization. As your business expands, our platform effortlessly scales.
