We're transforming from a product-first to a people-obsessed organization

Oracle's mission is to help people see data in new ways, discover insights, unlock endless possibilities.

At Oracle Consulting, we're building the bridge between Oracle's innovative technology and the people who use it to achieve incredible things. Our team is growing fast, and we need game-changing leaders ready to bring their unique skills, energy, and creativity to help us deliver world class client experiences.

We believe cloud technology should free people from bureaucracy and hierarchy and empower them to analyze and solve problems independently. So we're embracing the attributes of modern cloud culture and shifting our focus to a human-centered and experienced-based approach. By infusing collaboration, creativity, and empathy into our services, we're showing our clients what it's like to thrive in the cloud.

Oracle Consulting is a place where you can simply be you

Being a people-based business means our people come first. At Oracle Consulting, we celebrate each employee's contributions—not just their skills on paper, but who they really are.

We're storytellers, change navigators, business strategists, cloud delivery experts, candid consultants, and future-thinking designers who embody a wide spectrum of professional and personal experience. We embrace versatility, collaboration, agility, transparency, candor, and accountability as the keys to our success.
