Brand Safety

Many articles containing scary or gory language during Halloween could simply be details on a haunted hayride or the ultimate DIY lawn ornament. Standard block lists would steer you away from this spooktacular content, significantly reducing your ability to scale on relevant articles. With Oracle Contextual Intelligence, we understand a page’s true context by identifying and scoring the content, thus recognizing Halloween fun an over unacceptable brand risk. You can now also take advantage of Oracle’s Tiered Brand Safety, which offers greater granularity and customization to meet your unique brand suitability standards.
