

What Customers Are Saying

- “Retek and Oracle are a very neat functional fit. There seems to be very little overlap in the application footprint that will produce a complimentary and comprehensive solution for retail. This new hybrid of Retek’s industry expertise combined with the financials expertise and development horsepower of Oracle will produce an exciting integrated solution for retail over the long term.”

—Paul Dickson, Director of Information Systems, Arnott’s

- “Oracle and Retek are already business partners of A&P. A&P operates Retek’s applications on an Oracle database foundation today. The marriage of these two companies is ideal for A&P, as down the road we’ll have fewer vendors to deal with and one stop shopping for support. Oracle’s support for open standards in the future is also important to A&P.”

—John E. Metzger, SVP & CIO, The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, Inc.

- “Most Retek customers already run Oracle’s financial and human resources applications, so Oracle buying Retek is a perfect fit for the retail industry.”

—Bob Willet, CIO, Best Buy

- “Oracle and Retek are natural partners, so Oracle’s acquisition of Retek sounds like a great idea to me. The acquisition will provide more development resources to strengthen the product offering. This can only benefit our business.”

—Eddie MacDonald, CFO

- “Given the exceptional relationship that we have had with Oracle as a collaborative member of the Hbc Strategic Technology Alliance, and with the importance of the Retek Merchandising System in the ongoing transformation of Hbc, we are excited about the opportunity of working with a partner who will have a comprehensive solution for retailers.”

—Gary Davenport, CIO, Hudson’s Bay Company

- “LPP is already running Retek applications and Oracle applications on an Oracle database. Oracle’s acquisition of Retek will bring my business a one-stop shop for support.”

—Marek Piechocki, CEO, LPP

- “I am a long-time business partner of both Retek and Oracle. I have always considered them both to have excellent business applications and outstanding technology. The Retek / Oracle relationship was already a strong one, and I had already enjoyed benefits from their partnership. This acquisition makes what was already a very successful solution even better, by adding Retek’s Retail ‘best-in-class’ solutions to the enterprise best-in-class Oracle business suite. Any retailer looking for a solution has got to consider them as a front-runner.”

—Jeff Kish, SVP and CIO, Stage Stores
