

Oracle Mission Critical Support for SaaS

ORACLE
Customer Success
Services

Oracle SaaS applications have maximum impact when support for business users, critical process flows, and technical extensions empowers your organization to take full advantage of their features and functionality. Oracle Mission Critical Support for SaaS provides that support with flexible business lifecycle support packages.

As you are leveraging Oracle SaaS applications for your critical business functions, you will want to make the most of your subscription in terms of functionality, performance, and user productivity).

While Oracle is managing the SaaS infrastructure to highest standards, it can be demanding for your support team—especially if experienced resources are scarce—to:

- Help your end users to be productive and embrace new functionalities quickly
- Manage extensions and integrations efficiently, and adapt to process changes without delay
- Ensure high performance of key processes during critical periods, such as seasonal peaks
- Avoid unexpected change effects on your applications, such as after SaaS update cycles

Oracle Customer Success Services has more than 1,000 Oracle Applications experts worldwide, armed with unique tools and processes, to help you with these challenges.
