we should chat today on my Kilroy conversation.

I made 3 points

1. call it Poulson, whatever it is.....paint a good picture on why me made change.....made it earlier for HP's roadmap or whatever
2. don't possibly signal to world end of IPF roadmap. or you kill tw success and the bcs business
3. need a placeholder for kitson, since you went and announced that without our knowledge.....keep a cpu team around and keep them busy.....otherwise you are pulling out the full tw and poulson teams within 18 months.....not a soft landing, a crash landing!

thanks

I still don't like it.

Q: Is Poulson still on the roadmap?

A: Yes. As with any product still years from introduction, we continue to refine the details of the product definition.

That's what I'd prefer.

Can you look at this – especially let me know if you are OK with these words:

- Q: Is Poulson still on the roadmap?

A: We have redirected Poulson resources to new programs and are redefining Poulson. We'll have roadmap updates in the future.

Susan – Can you let me know if you sent me any revision as I did not notice anything but I am very back logged on e-mail.

Regards,
Michelle
