

2018 Future Supply Chain Leaders Program

For the third year the Oracle Future Supply Chain Leaders Program will invite a select set of promising college students studying in supply chain related fields to attend and participate in Oracle's Modern Value Chain Experience conference in San Jose, CA from January 29-31, 2018. This will be the sixth year the Modern Value Chain Experience conference is being convened, the largest gathering of supply chain professionals in North America.

In the past two years students from the following schools were selected to attend.

Benefits of the Program:

- Experience the Conference: Choose from more than 150 sessions offering deep dives on every aspect of supply chain management – End-to-End Supply Chain, Logistics and Order Management, Maintenance, Manufacturing, Procurement, Product Lifecycle Management, and Supply Chain Planning.
- Expand Your Network: With over 2,500 attendees no other event gathers as many of the best and brightest professionals across industries. Past attendees include representatives from companies like Apple, AMD, Alcoa, AT&T, Cisco, Chevron, Coca-Cola, Cummins, Dell, Emerson, General Electric, Google, GoPro, Hologic, Ingersoll-Rand, IKEA, Motorola, Panasonic, Pella, Qualcomm, Ricoh, Specialized Bicycle, Starbucks, Unilever, UPS, and Verizon just to name a few. Partners in attendance included Accenture, Capgemini, Deloitte, Hitachi Consulting, Infosys, Inspirage, KPMG, and PricewaterhouseCoopers.

- Gain Unique Insight: Speak directly with the product experts responsible for Oracle’s Value Chain Solutions.
- Hear from the Experts: Listen to case studies from leading companies and speak with top partners who have championed change. In 2017 more than 100 Oracle customer speakers presented.
- Improve Your Skills: Enhance your expertise by joining hands-on training sessions.
- Get Inspired: Hear from industry leaders.

Candidate Criteria:

- High performing, self-motivated, collaborative, intellectually curious candidates currently enrolled at the undergraduate or graduate level.
- Aspiring supply chain management professionals with a business orientation, e.g. Manufacturing, Planning, Operations, Product Design, Logistics, or Maintenance.
